PLANT YOUR FLAG

with MS Roald Amundsen

— In 1911 Roald Amundsen planted the Norwegian flag at the South Pole. Now it's time for your clients to plant their own flags.

Planting a flag in the wilderness is a symbol of achievement. Of course, the meaning of 'achievement' can vary from person to person. For some, climbing Mount Everest is a great achievement, while for others just getting through a night in a tent in the backyard is worth celebrating.

With Hurtigruten's new expedition fleet, your clients will have the opportunity to plant their personal flags in some of the most exciting and remote areas in the world.

Our newest ship, MS Roald Amundsen, which will be launched in 2018, will lead the way toward an even more sustainable way of traveling. Sailing on quiet electrical power is good for the environment and will enhance the experience of your clients' adventure. The ship is being designed for voyages in polar waters to serve as your clients' comfortable base camp at sea. In other words: It will be the perfect starting point for your clients to connect with their inner explorer.

KARIN STRAND is the Field Operations Manager on Hurtigruten's expedition ships and takes guests deep into the great wilderness of Antarctica.
